THE MAGIC OF CHRISTMAS FILLS THE MAGIC KINGDOM

Since the first "Christmas Bowl" in 1956, the Yuletide season has always been a major Disneyland celebration. But the most dramatic of all the Christmas festivities is, perhaps, the inspiring "Candlelight Procession." Premiering in 1958, this parade of carolers illuminates the Magic Kingdom with the glow of a thousand candles and the music of a thousand voices. Over the years, some of Hollywood's most respected performers have participated in the finale of the "Candlelight Procession"—the reading of the Christmas Story. These celebrities have included John Wayne, Henry Fonda, Cary Grant, Charlton Heston and Gregory Peck.
